Extra space for a safe working environment - fast

Social Distancing at workplace

Is it feasible?

For many companies, guaranteeing free space between all employees or customers within the current infrastructure is very difficult, if not impossible. In many cases, businesses simply do not have the extra space needed in the office or workplace to allow everyone to work, confer, or have lunch six feet apart. Desks need to be moved further apart, aisles need to be widened, rooms and cafeterias need to be furnished differently or host fewer people, and so on.

We can provide you with the extra space you need. Our rapidly deployable structures can be used as extra office space, additional meeting space, temporary dining hall, storage, or even a temporary workshop or production space. In a matter of days, we can deliver the temporary facilities you need to guarantee sufficient space required to have a safe working environment.

We are ready to help you. Please contact us.
